Each member of RGI understands and agrees that an RGI certificate is NOT proof of ownership or legal title of any particular animal. Rodeo Genetics, Inc. is a private entity and not associated in any way with any governmental authority or governing body or agency. RGI has no responsibility, obligation or duty in any disputes of the ownership of any registered animals. Each person applying for RGI membership represents, warrants, and guarantees that any and all information, including pedigree information, submitted to RGI in any and all forms shall be true, correct and accurate in all respects. Further, each member hereby gives its consent and permission to RGI to use, without limitation, all of the information, including the pedigree information, submitted to RGI by the member in the RGI database, RGI records and RGI website, without limitation. Further, each member represents, warrants, and guarantees that it is the legal owner of the information and has the right and authority to submit such information to RGI for the expressed purposes as set forth herein. To the best knowledge of RGI, the pedigrees shown for the animals on the certificates are accurate, but RGI cannot in any way guarantee the accuracy or validity of any pedigrees or any other information provided on the certificates. The information on the certificates may be used at the discretion of RGI, but RGI does NOT claim ownership to the animals or their DNA profiles obtained through registration.
